Dear Dr. Hurtado:

As I told you while we were in Lima, we are in the process of preparing a paper on capillary studies in acclimatized puppies. I am sure that you are aware that there is very little in the literature on this subject especially the number and area of capillaries related to tissue area. I wondered if you might have any information on other work which is published on this subject or any bibliography. We would greatly appreciate it if you could let us know of any such articles.

Best regards to you and everyone in the laboratory.

Sincerely,

ERNEST L. BECKER
